Candidate David McAloon Focuses on Representative Race

Bourbonnais, IL. – David McAloon, Republican candidate for the House of Representatives seat for the 75th District has announced today that he will remain committed to the decision he made to run for Illinois State Representative. Recently information was released regarding the imminent vacancy of the seat for the 11th Congressional District by Congressman Jerry Weller.

Though several interested Republicans have contacted McAloon concerning a possible run for the 11th Congressional seat, he remains committed to the constituents of the 75th district. A statement released by McAloon yesterday asserts his position; "Even though I am honored to be considered for the position, I made a commitment to the people of the 75th District to give them my best, on a full time basis, without compromise or distraction."

McAloon believes in the people of the 75th District and is committed to providing strong, moral, and honest leadership as the Illinois State Representative. David McAloon and his family continue to exemplify the leadership qualities that the 75th District has come to expect from its politicians. It is this strong leadership ability, coupled with his dedication to excellence and commitment to his word that establishes his position as the best candidate to represent the people of the 75th District.
